

1. How do you feel when you have been in this college for so many years?

There was once upon a time when I looked at colleagues who had been in service for ten years and longer and thought that it was such an unfathomable notion to be doing the same thing for so long. I wondered if I would be in a similar position someday, and now, here I am. It has certainly been a rewarding experience through which I have grown and learnt much as an educator and a person. And I know now that even though the syllabus may hardly change from year to year, we hardly ever do the same thing because our students push us to continually seek to do things better.

2. Can share with us what motivates you to keep going in this teaching journey?

When a student arrives at a place of understanding and appreciation of a problem, a concept, an issue, or a technique, that gives me joy. Sometimes the student expresses gratitude, other times, a simple "oh". It is a sense of accomplishment that comes with knowing that I have made a positive difference in someone's lived experience.

3. What do you want your students to achieve?

I hope to see my students find and achieve their own true excellence - be it excellence in school, excellence at the workplace, excellence in society, excellence in their relationships, or excellence at home.
