

Being a sportsperson means so much to me - being able to play the sport that I love, and being able to compete alongside my teammates. The sense of camaraderie brings much satisfaction.

Even though training can get tough when the competition season is approaching and there are times you feel like giving up, don't give up! When you look back at what you have been through together as a team, all the setbacks and successes (and everything in between) will definitely be something you will cherish for the rest of your life. You are proud of what you, and your team, have gone through, and survived.

The dedicated teaching from every NJ basketball teacher and coach helps to stretch our potential. Their undying effort to make us become a better version of ourselves is what allows me to excel in this sport.
